

ABSTRACT

Workpiece isothermal imprinting. One method involves imprinting a stamper into an embossable film at an imprinting temperature, with the embossable film disposed over a base structure. The stamper may then be separated from the embossable film at approximately the imprinting temperature.